From the President's Desk

by Cicero Town President Larry Dominick

Dear Cicero residents,

What a Christmas season we had this year!

Throughout December, we've seen an incredible outpouring of support, celebration, and dedication to make sure as many people as possible have a Merry Christmas. And the month didn't start as jolly as we had hoped.

During the first of the month, our brave firefighters battled against a large apartment fire. I'm grateful that no one lost their life in the blaze, but it still displaced 17 families right between Thanksgiving and Christmas. The last thing anyone needs is the uncertainty and anxiety of losing a home and all your belongings. Thankfully, many of you stepped up and helped out. The donation drive helped set a foundation for rebuilding the victims' lives with clothes, hygiene products, and Christmas gifts for the children. Town staff and officials worked with non-profit groups and state agencies to help find new places to live, even if on a short-term basis, to ensure everyone had a new home. It was a Christmas miracle that started the season, and I could not be more proud of how the town stepped up to help its neighbors.

As the month continued, so did how we celebrated and honored Christmas. We had a lovely Posada and meals for our Parent Patrol, Police and Fire officials, and senior residents. We celebrated with children to receive Christmas baskets and meet Santa throughout the month. And many of us took time to be with friends and family as Christmas arrived.

I could not be happier to see so many of you attend these beautiful events, celebrating this season that is so important to me and many others in this town. We had a fantastic 2023, with massive turnouts for Cinco de Mayo and Mexican Independence Day, wonderful celebrations with Cicero Fest and Houby Day, family programming that brought smiles to thousands of children's faces, and chances to be with each other and enjoy the community we live in.

As we celebrate the arrival of a new year, I hope we continue to support each other, celebrate milestones, significant and small, and live in the safe and wonderful community that Cicero has become while I have been in office.

Happy 2024! I pray it will be a grand one!

Sincerely,

Larry Dominick
Cicero Town President

P.S. As always, please feel free to contact me with concerns, questions, comments or suggestions at larry@thetownofcicero.com. Thank you.

Seniors Celebrate Christmas Holiday at Luncheon

Senior residents and town officials jumped into the holiday spirit with the annual Senior Christmas Luncheon on December 13 at the Cicero Community Center.

Residents enjoyed a plentiful buffet with dancing and entertainment from the band Rosie and the Rivets.

President Larry Dominick enjoyed taking pictures with every senior who attended amidst the beautiful Christmas decorations.

"Our seniors are our most treasured community. They worked all their lives to make Cicero a better place, and Cicero will never forget their sacrifices for our community," Dominick said. "Not only do we offer the widest range of services to our senior community, but we also offer a full schedule of activities and events each month to keep them active and healthy. I am very proud of what the Senior Department, Senior Center, and all our volunteers do for Seniors."

The Cicero Senior Center, led by Director Diana Dominick and her staff, organized the event with volunteers from the town, District 99 and Morton High School District 201, serving food and ensuring everyone had a great time.

Donations Pour in for December 1 Fire Victims

Town President Larry Dominick and the Town of Cicero Board of Trustees organized a volunteer donation campaign last week to help the 17 families who lost their homes in the 16th and Austin Street apartment fire on December 1.

Officials called out to community members to ask if they could help the residents who lost their homes by donating new clothing, small kitchen appliances, personal hygiene kits and toys for children and delivering those items to the Town PSO Building at 5401 W. 34th Street.

"The public's enthusiasm to help others was amazing," President Dominick said. "We collected more than enough clothing, small appliances and toys to ensure that all of the 17 families who lost their homes in that terrible fire were given a chance to rebuild their lives. The timing is terrible also because it occurred during this holiday season."

The donation distribution took place on December 8 at the PSO building. It was coordinated by Carolyn Arias, Executive Director of the Community Mental Health Board/General Assistance Committee, with volunteers from the Clergy Committee, Clergy Committee Director and Cicero Chaplain Ismael Vargas, and the PSO staff.

The volunteers sorted all the donations by clothing size/gender and age and by appliance type, and each of the 17 families was given suitcases to fill as they collected items of need.

"I want to thank all of the volunteers who helped make this work," Arias said. "The outpouring of support from the community was tremendous."

Ismael said that the Clergy Committee had assigned members to work with each family to ensure they had what they needed and to help them find alternative housing.

Arias said the Town worked with the Red Cross, Cook County and the state to assist the residents.

Firefighters worked for more than six hours to put out the massive fire that destroyed the apartment building, which housed 18 apartments on three floors.

"Christmas is around the corner, and to be able to put everything together and to come together has been a blessing," Vargas said.

Boxes were overflowing with donations from residents to provide basic needs for victims of the December 1 fire.

Families go through looking for clothes that fit and other provisions they need after the December 1 fire.

Christmas Gift Baskets Provide Holiday Joy for Families and Seniors in Cicero

Town President Larry Dominick and the Town of Cicero Board of Trustees celebrate Christmas by distributing Gift Baskets to residents on December 16 at the Cicero Public Safety Building at 5410 W. 34th Street.

The annual tradition began as a way for Dominick and the Board to provide a little something for residents who could use extra holiday cheer during a struggling economy years ago. It has transformed into a way to provide for those who want to do something for their children who might otherwise go without a Merry Christmas.

"I remember Christmas as such a special time as a kid. The lights, the church service, and especially the gifts at Christmastime were amazing and became even more important when I became a father," Dominick said. "The last thing I want to see is a family that cannot create those memories because of a lack of resources. It won't solve all the problems but will make the holiday special for someone."

Gifts included toys for children of families in need and food and gift baskets for each family registered with the Town of Cicero.

Gifts overflow for families to build their baskets for Christmas.

Joining President Dominick were Senior Director Diana Dominick – who organized a special gift bag giveaway for seniors that included a fresh ham – executive assistant Maria Moreno, and Special Events Director Patti Salerno.

Families were able to visit Santa during the Christmas Gift Basket event on December 16.

It was all smiles with Town President Larry Dominick, Senior Center Director Diana Dominick, Trustee Victor Garcia, and countless other volunteers helping out.

Cicero Police Continue Holiday "Shop with a Cop" Tradition

Cicero's annual Shop with a Cop event continued on December 16, with families joining police officers at Walmart to help less fortunate families have a Merry Christmas.

As part of the event, children in the program walk through Walmart's aisles to pick out clothes, toys and other presents to wrap under the tree. Officers join the children and help wrap the gifts.

Cicero Police Chief Tom Boyle, Town President Larry Dominick and Cicero Town Board expressed gratitude for the officers who helped with the program and Walmart, who not only provided the space for the event but also supported the program financially.

"We're grateful that Walmart and these officers did so much to help make these children's dreams come true, even for one holiday," Boyle said. "This program is a point of great pride for many of our officers, and I know they are thrilled to participate each year."

Attending to show support were members of the Cicero Police, trustees Victor Garcia and John Cava, and Cicero Chaplain Ismael Vargas.

Cicero Donates to Local Soccer Club

In a demonstration of community backing, Town President Larry Dominick and the Board of Trustees donated $1000 to local soccer club Cicero Pachuca on December 1. The occasion signifies a notable stride in nurturing the growth of Cicero's youth. Trustee Garcia underscored the significance of investing in the future, emphasizing the pivotal role such contributions play in children's comprehensive development and well-being.

Dominick has long supported positive change in child development and recognized the importance of affording students opportunities. He has consistently championed initiatives aligning with this vision. The Cicero Pachuca Soccer Club, known for its dedication to fostering physical activity, teamwork, and discipline among children, seamlessly aligns with Dominick's community vision.

"This is a club that deserves the community's support and I'm glad we could provide something for them to continue to grow and succeed in the town," Dominick said. "They're doing what we can to create an environment that benefits our kids and their growth, developing life skills and building friendships through sport. The more active they are, the more they work together, the better they will succeed in life and the better the town will be in its growth for generations to come."

La Posada Continues in New Location

Families and friends gathered at Cicero's Community Center on December 16 to celebrate the annual Posada. It was a new location for the old tradition, but that didn't dampen the fun as people enjoyed the live music, Joseph and Mary wandering through to find room to rest, and many great treats and toys for the kids.

Town President Larry Dominick and the Cicero Mexican Cultural Committee sponsored this year's tradition. Still, it has been a longstanding event to mark the continued Christmas season for Cicero and its many residents.

"La Posada doesn't start the holiday season, but it marks an important turn for Christmas here in Cicero. It's the first of the many traditions that open the final days before Christmas arrives. It connects us to the biblical narrative of Christ's birth and the family and cultural traditions important to many of us," Dominick said.

La Posada reflects the journey Mary and Joseph took from Galilee to Bethlehem, as told in Matthew and Luke in the Bible. The tradition of the Posada includes two people in the community portraying Mary and Joseph, traveling from home to home until an innkeeper welcomes them.

It is a popular celebration in many Latin American nations, including Mexico, Honduras and Guatemala that has grown in popularity among many communities in the United States. As part of the Cicero tradition, people enjoy treats such as pan dulce and children get to take home an early Christmas present, courtesy of the town and the committee.

Musicians from Morton High School 201 joined in the fun.

Clergy Committee Celebrates Police and Fire Officials

Amidst the hustle of holiday shopping, the harmonious tunes of carolers, and the joyful anticipation of children, the Cicero Clergy Committee directed its attention toward expressing gratitude to first responders. On November 30, the committee dedicated time to provide breakfast for Cicero's Police and Fire departments.

"We want to show our gratitude for their work in keeping us safe throughout the year," said Ismael Vargas, Cicero's Chaplain and leader of the Clergy Committee. Recognizing the heightened demands during this season and just the day before a dangerous fire destroyed an 18-unit apartment building, Vargas emphasized the often-overlooked efforts of these essential personnel.

Vargas extended words of appreciation and delivered a concise prayer at both breakfast gatherings, with the presence of town officials and community leaders. The committee shared the warm breakfasts at the Cicero Police Headquarters near Town Hall and at the 25th Street Fire Station.

"I am grateful to see community groups like our Clergy Committee take the time to give back to our first responders," Town President Larry Dominick said. He acknowledged the challenges faced by these dedicated individuals, especially during extended shifts and the holiday season, highlighting the significance of the committee's recognition of their sacrifices for firefighters and police officers alike.

Cicero Remembers Pearl Harbor

Cicero remembered the attacks on Pearl Harbor at a special ceremony on December 6 at the Community Center. John Kociolko provided the historical recounting of the attacks, which forced the United States to enter World War II on December 7, 1941, including a reenactment of the opening remarks President Franklin D. Roosevelt gave to a joint session of Congress asking for the declaration of war against the Japanese Empire.

Anthony Grazzini emceed the event and lunch was provided for attendees. The commemoration is part of a yearlong program to honor cultural and historical aspects directly impacting Cicero's residents. January's event will celebrate the legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr.

John Kociolko speaks on the impact Pearl Harbor had on the United States and the world at the commemoration.
